

The relaxation of the regulations limiting media ownership is anti-demcratic. The concentration of ownership that already exists is used to manipulate the public, not represent us. We are a diverse nation, and the use, non-use, and abuse of information by a small, politically motivated group of people does not, cannot, be representitve of that vast array of views and opinions.